

A THOUGHT

Good laws make it easier to do right and harder to do wrong.—Gladstone.

Hope Star

THE WEATHER

Arkansas—Partly cloudy, probably local thunderstorms in northwest portion Saturday night or Sunday.

VOLUME 38—NUMBER 244

(AP)—Means Associated Press (NBA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n

HOPE, ARKANSAS, SATURDAY, JULY 24, 1937

Star of Hope 1899; Press, 1927. Consolidated January 15, 1928.

PRICE 5c COPY

BANDIT PAIR CAPTURED HERE

New Clause to Be Written in Court Bill Says Solon

Would Prohibit Federal Judges From Issuing Injunctions

IS PARTIAL SUCCESS

President Roosevelt Sees Fight On Court as of Some Aid

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Connally, democrat of Texas, announced Saturday that he would try to write into the skeleton judiciary reorganization bill a provision to restrict the issuance of injunctions by lower court judges.

In a formal statement, Senator Connally predicted the new measure, agreed upon by senate leaders in the place of President Roosevelt's court bill, would include a clause "prohibiting injunctions restraining enforcement of acts of congress on the grounds of their unconstitutionality by a single judge of a federal inferior court."

His statement coincided with renewed proposals from some of the house members for limiting the supreme court's power to invalidate laws.

Congress Is Restless

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Roosevelt administration contended Friday its defeated court bill was a partial success in that it induced the Supreme Court to interpret the Constitution more liberally.

A spokesman for the President himself said since the bill was proposed, the court, feeling the influence of the ensuing controversy, had reversed itself on vital points.

In addition, while a restless Congress talked of adjournment in mid-August, or earlier, he renewed the administration's plea for enactment of wage and hour legislation, a farm program and a housing bill before the end of the session.

Coincidentally, Senator Alben Barkley, the majority leader, outlined a program for the rest of the session and predicted congress will not adjourn until the measures are enacted. Besides the new court bill being drafted by the Senate Judiciary Committee, the list includes the wage-hour and housing measures and a bill to plug holes in the tax laws. Barkley did not include the farm bill, or the reorganization of the Government asked by President Roosevelt.

Burke Vice President

Meanwhile, Vice-President John Garner continued his efforts to close the ugly breach which the court bill opened in the ranks of Democrats. At his suggestion, Senator Edward Burke (Dem.) of Nebraska, a leading opponent of the measure, called on President Roosevelt.

While Burke reported a happy and friendly discussion, Stephen T. Early, the President's secretary, was at pains to say the Nebraska had been received as the result of a request from Garner.

In support of his contention that the controversy over the court bill had brought a new trend in Supreme Court decisions, Mr. Roosevelt's spokesman cited three decisions announced by the high tribunal since February 5, when the court bill was proposed.

The decisions on the social security act, he said, reversed a narrow construction of the Federal spending power enunciated in the prior decision invalidating the agricultural adjustment act.

Golf Tournament

Prescott Sunday

Arkadelphia, Hope, Nashville and Magnolia to Play in Tourney

PRESCOTT, Ark.—The Prescott Country club, local golfers' organization, will be hosts to teams from Arkadelphia, Magnolia, Nashville and Hope Sunday afternoon in a resumption of intercity golf matches.

A dozen or more flights, each composed of one player from Arkadelphia, Magnolia, Nashville and Hope will compete in medal play starting at 1:15 p. m. Low gross team total will decide the winner.

This match is a resumption of intercity tournaments begun several years ago between southwest Arkansas golf clubs and participated in by teams from Camden, Magnolia, Nashville, Arkadelphia, Hope, DeQueen, Prescott and other towns. Spectators are welcome. The matches will require services of 50 caddies.

Cemetery Working

G. C. Powell announced Saturday there would be a cemetery working at Mt. Nebo Tuesday, July 27. Interested persons are asked to be present. Work will start during the morning. Bring basket lunches, Mr. Powell urged.

Barkley and Garner Smiling Over Senate Plans

Although they are probably the two busiest men in Washington right now, Vice President John Garner threw his arm over the shoulders of Senator Alben Barkley, the new Senate majority leader, and neither let political worries interfere with their smiling good spirits as this informal picture was made. The leadership election just over, the two were mapping out plans for control of a rebellious Senate, to restore party harmony and to salvage as much from the President's program as possible.

Navy Diver Fails to Find Monster

Halted by Mud at Bottom, All He Sees Is Big Catfish

NEWPORT, Ark.—(P)—Twenty feet of mud halted Naval Diver C. B. Brown's third invasion of White River Friday in search of Arkansas' mysterious monster.

Aides pulled the Memphis man to the surface from muck and weeds of the river bed after an hour's hunt failed to disclose a trace of the creature. He saw only a big catfish and a heavy log.

Some 300 spectators from California, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi and Tennessee lined the river bank to hear over a loudspeaker a bubble by bubble account of Brown's activities.

Brown's entry into the river was at an eddy where a negro woman reported seeing the monster.

"I am sure that if there is a mysterious creature down there we will find him before the search is concluded or else discover the cause of all this excitement," said the diver.

PARIS—(P)—United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt conferred with Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, Friday to arrange the ceremonies for the dedication of the American World War memorial at Montfaucon August 1.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a person who goes into the ready-to-wear department of a store tell the clerk what size he or she wears?
2. Need there be anything doubtful about a personal shopper who advertises that her service is free to customers?
3. Does it show consideration to a salesperson to ask to see goods when a person looking has no intention of buying?
4. Is a person well-bred who abuses a store's approval privilege?
5. Is it thoughtful of a housewife consistently to choose the noon hour or late afternoon for her shopping?

What would you do if—

- (a) You think you have been treated discourteously by a salesperson—
- (b) Go straight to the manager—
- (c) Avoid having that person wait on you in the future?
- (d) Go home and write a letter to the store reporting the incident?

Answers

1. Yes, it is often embarrassing for the clerk to have to guess, particularly when the customer is a "perfect 46."
2. No, for she receives a sales commission from the merchant.
3. No.
4. No, because this is the only time when most business people can shop.
5. Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(b).

(Copyright 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

Max Cox Is Believed to Be Out of Danger

Max Cox, Hope automobile dealer and well-known Hempstead county man, apparently is out of danger and is on the road to recovery, his physician, Dr. L. M. Lile, reported Saturday.

Mr. Cox underwent an emergency operation at Julia Chester hospital Tuesday of this week for a ruptured appendix and has been seriously ill. His condition Saturday was reported as improved.

Truck Drivers and Pickets Call Truce After Three Are Injured

AKRON, Ohio—(P)—Three men on a picket line of striking truck drivers were wounded early Saturday by a mysterious gun shot discharge.

The shot was fired by a man in an automobile, a Summit county deputy sheriff said, into a crowd of both pickets and owners and operators of trucks.

Officers said that after the shooting union drivers and operators agreed to a truce, called pickets from the highways and arranged to hold a meeting later in the day.

Hope Team to Play Washington Here

Hope High School Athletes to Play at Fair Park Sunday

A baseball team composed of Hope High School athletes will meet a team from Washington at Fair Park Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

Percy Ramsey will pitch for the Hope team. He is a right-hander. The lineup of the Hope team:

Tootsie Cargile, shortstop; John Wilson, first base; Julian Spillers, third base; Dean Parsons, left field; Leonard England, second base; Leonard Bearden, catcher; Zeland Holly, center field; Mac Turner, right field, Percy Ramsey, pitcher.

The Williams Lumber company baseball team will be away from home Sunday. The team goes to Antoine.

Investigation Started as Arkansan Missing

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—Police pursued an investigation Friday night into the disappearance of James Graham, North Little Rock, after receiving a report he had been seen in Southeast Arkansas.

Graham's wife expressed belief he had taken his life after a mysterious note signed "Jom" was found on a railroad bridge here. Friends of the family said a Missouri Pacific employee who knew Graham by sight informed them he was positive he had seen the missing man at McGee late Wednesday night.

Guernsey P. T. A. Meet

The Guernsey Parent Teacher association will be reorganized and new officers elected at a meeting to be held next Thursday night at Guernsey high school. Students will present a program at that time.

Delay Peach Fete at Forrest City

Is Postponed Because of Two Cases of Infantile Paralysis

FORREST CITY—(P)—Crowley Ridge's ninth annual peach festival, scheduled July 29 was postponed indefinitely because of two cases of infantile paralysis in the county.

This action was ordered by state, county and city health authorities as a precautionary measure against spread of the disease. Cases were reported at nearby Wheatley and Caldwell. Parents have been urged to keep children away from public gatherings.

Governor Bailey's Sensational Rise to Fame Began 10 Years Ago as Lawyer

Nomination to United States Senate Seat Begins New Chapter in Life of One-Time Rural School Teacher

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(P)—Nomination of Carl Edward Bailey Friday for the senatorial post left vacant by the death of Joe T. Robinson, began a new chapter in the life of one of Arkansas' most sensational political figures.

Ten years ago Priddy Bailey was a virtually unknown lawyer. Friday, at the age of 42, he is governor of the state and his party's choice to succeed a man who scaled the national heights of fame and honor.

A native of Missouri, Bailey received his common school education at the little town of Campbell and obtained his first employment at the age of 18 as a rural school teacher near there.

Bailey soon tossed aside his books for the more robust work of railroad brakeman. With bolstered earning capacity, he married Miss Margaret Briswell at Paragould, Ark., in 1915. The couple are the parents now of five sons and a daughter.

After a brief period of railroad work in Texas, Bailey returned to Missouri and found employment as a laborer in a St. Louis shoe factory. There he became a member of the International Boot and Shoe Workers Union, learned by heart by the primary lessons of organization and industrialism.

Ambition burned in the young factory hand and his spare hours were spent taking a business course. Equipped to handle figures—later to become an important factor in his political career—Bailey returned to Campbell and tasted politics for the first time as a deputy tax assessor.

In 1917 he moved to Arkansas to establish himself as an auditor for a lumber company, working first in Poinsett county and later at Augusta. There he made valuable social contacts with the rich and prominent (although family. A new idea burgeoned. Bailey again studied in his spare time and in 1923 passed the state bar examinations.

Quitting the lumber business, he came to Little Rock as assistant secretary of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Association. Here he again felt the urge of politics and became deputy state commissioner of mines, manufacture and agriculture, only to resign a few months later and take up the practice of law.

The next three years were spent in the courts. Bailey took a hand in the campaign in 1926 and when his victorious candidate took office the following January, the unknown young lawyer found himself installed as assistant prosecuting attorney.

Three years later, Bailey sought the principal office himself and was elected. He served two terms and in 1934 defeated the veteran Hal Norwood for the office of attorney general. The contest was the closest of the year and made Bailey's name well known in every voting precinct. Soon, his unerring sense of public values was to make that name known in every home.

Bulletins

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—The Arkansas Democrat said Saturday that Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, widow of the late majority leader in the senate, was being urged to offer as a candidate in a special election which will be called to fill the senate vacancy. NN

WIMBLEDON, Eng.—(P)—Surviving a marathon 28-game first set, America's sorrel-topped tennis ace, Don Budge, crushed Charles Edgar Hare, 15-13, 6-1, 6-2, and gave the United States an even break with Great Britain in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round Saturday. Budge's triumph came after Bunny Austin, British stylist, trounced Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-2, and 6-5.

Prescott Postal Worker Is Held

Earl Ward, Rural Mail Carrier, Charged With Rifling Letters

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(P)—Sheriff Fred Bright announced Friday night the arrest of Earl Ward, 40, a mail carrier here for 17 years, on a charge of rifling mail on rural route three from Prescott.

He said Ward had confessed to the theft of $7 from two letters. The arrest came after several opened envelopes were found in Ward's locker at the post office here, Bright said.

Ward, who is married and the father of three children, was arrested by Postal Inspector E. J. Kupperer of St. Louis and county officers. He was held in the county jail pending a hearing before U. S. Commissioner S. A. Phillips at Texarkana.

Sheriff Bright said Ward's arrest followed after the postal inspector sent a decoy package containing $4 to an address on the route. He said Ward denied handling the package, which was not delivered.

Meeting Is Postponed

The revival meeting which was to begin soon at Evening Shade community seven miles south of Hope has been postponed until August 29 because of the Baptist meeting which starts at Spring Hill August 1. The Rev. Gilbert Copeland of Hope will conduct the Evening Shade revival.

Governor Bailey Happily Accepts Sen. Nomination

Demands for Open Primary Voiced at State Demo Meeting

SOME EXCITEMENT

Session Is Interspersed With Hisses and Verbal Clashes

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—Over-riding demands from some factions in the party that a special primary be called, the democratic state committee Friday nominated 42-year-old Governor Carl E. Bailey to be Joseph T. Robinson's successor in the United States senate.

A minority faction headed by Robert Prather of Viny Ridge, Mrs. Mary Grayson of Arkadelphia, and John G. Moore of Morrilton fought futilely for a primary, the majority disregarding their warning that a committee nomination would split the party hopelessly.

Committee sentiment was so strong for Bailey no roll call was taken, a chorus of "ayes" nominated him after his name was placed before the group by Nathaniel Dyke, Jr., Fort Smith, holding the proxy of Lamar Smith, Camden.

The session was not without its excitement. At one stage some in a crowd of several hundred hissed after a remark by Chairman June P. Wooten. A cry for police went up from Wooten just before adjournment when the chairman and Representative Kenneth C. Kottel of Saline county engaged in a verbal clash.

The tilt came when Prather filed a statement with the chair appealing to the state convention from the committee's nominating action. When Cofelt entered the debate, Wooten shouted:

"If there is an officer in the house, will he remove this man?"

Smiling broadly, Bailey two hours after the session received the certificate of nomination from Wooten and Belmont Taylor, secretary, and said: "I'm as happy about it as you folks are."

Asked if he would resign the governorship if elected to the senate, Bailey said:

"I can't very well vacate the governor's office until I am elected to the senate, can I?"

Political circles have speculated over whether he would retain the governorship until January, 1939 by failing to take the oath as senator. He has differed often in the past with Lieutenant Governor Bob Bailey, next in line of succession.

Bailey said he probably would issue a call within a few days for a special general election to fill the senatorial vacancy. The election probably will be held September 14. Whether he would be opposed by a republican or by fellow democrats running as independents remained in doubt.

Prather Opposes Bailey

Mr. Prather immediately sought and obtained the floor to read his statement. He said:

"It came as a shock to me that there was going to be a concerted effort of the governor's closest friends and advisers to come into this committee—among you ladies and gentlemen, the mouthpieces and agents of the Democracy of the great state of Arkansas—come here on this floor and dictate a committee nomination—take away from the voters of this state their right of suffrage—the right to select their representative and spokesman in the greatest lawmaking body on earth. I just can't go along that far."

"If any man or group of men attempted to take away my rights of voting on any and all subjects that affected my party and the public interest, I should resent it from the bottom of my soul. That's precisely what's being attempted here at this time—to take away the privilege of every man and woman in this state—every Democrat—of going to the polls and exercising the right for which our forefathers shed their blood—the Democracy of Arkansas is today up in arms against it."

"Shall we, because we temporarily have the power, arrogate unto ourselves the privileges and prerogatives of our neighbors and friends—force a thing down the throats of the Democracy of this state that from every sign and portent *** is positively revolting to the people of Arkansas?"

He concluded that action of the State Committee in nominating a candidate would have the result that "the party will be split from hell to breakfast." At this, Cofelt whooped and yelled "Give 'em hell."

Less than 30 minutes later Mr. Prather rose with his "exceptions" and proposed that a convention be called to nominate a candidate.

Railroading Charged

Next speaker was Mr. Moore, who first asked that the recommendation of the subcommittee be reread. He explained that he did not come to the meeting as an enemy of Governor

(Continued on Page Three)

(Continued on Page Three)

Nominated

Governor Carl E. Bailey

Arkansas Seeks Texas Fugitive

Harry Campbell, Captured in St. Louis, Wanted in State

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—Sheriff L. B. Branch sent two of his deputies to St. Louis Friday night to return Harry Campbell, escaped Texas convict captured in the Missouri city.

Campbell is wanted in Arkansas for six robberies. Harley Baskin, former Little Rock policeman and revenue department agent, arrested several weeks ago, told officers Campbell aided him in holdups and passing of bad checks over the state last May. Baskin is receiving treatment at the state hospital.

Detective Chief O. N. Martin said the two were accused of raiding a North Little Rock poker game May 1, robbing two liquor stores here, one at Fort Smith, another at Texarkana and holding up the Western Union office at Pine Bluff. He said the robberies did not net over $250.

Campbell told St. Louis officers he staged a $1000 to $2000 bank robbery here in June. Martin said no such crime occurred.

Escaped Last February

HUNTSVILLE, Texas—(P)—Harry C. Campbell, captured in St. Louis Friday, escaped from Bellevue state prison farm in Brazoria county last February 15 by slipping away from a construction crew at work on a new dormitory. He was sentenced to prison April 17, 1933.

Campbell was serving 27 years on convictions from Galveston, Harris and Jefferson counties for robbery by fire-arms, robbery by assault and felony theft.

Chapman Reported to Be in Missouri

Kidnaps University Student and Steals His Automobile

CARTHAGE, Mo.—(P)—A gunman, suspected by officers here of being Charles Chapman, fellow fugitive of Roy (Pete) Traxler from a Texas prison, kidnapped a University of Missouri student here and stole the youth's automobile.

The gunman, about 38, heavily bearded, accented Grover Lutz as he drove into the garage at his home on the southern edge of town. Bandishing a pistol the man forced Lutz to drive two miles south on U. S. Highway 71 where the youth was put out of the car.

"I hate to take your car, buddy, but the law is hot on my trail," Lutz quoted his abductor as saying. "I've spent too much time in Texas."

Chapman was one of a band of convicts who escaped recently from a Texas prison farm with Traxler and Fred Tindol. Tindol was slain and Traxler captured two days ago.

Strikers Stand on Track to Block Train

BRIDGEPORT, Ala.—(P)—Quiet prevailed at a stove manufacturing plant where some 150 striking iron workers massed on a railroad spur preventing entrance of a train to the company's property.

At Montgomery, Gov. Bibb Graves announced the strikers had agreed to allow movement of the stoves. Graves ordered National Guardsmen mobilized for a trip into Bridgeport "if trouble develops," then canceled the order.

One Is Shot After Resisting Order to Raise His Hands

Claude Reynolds and Edward Keith Arrested for Hijacking

WRECK AUTOMOBILE

Pair Halted as They Approach Entrance to City Saturday

Two men who police listed as Claude Reynolds and Edward Keith were captured near Tol-E-Tex service station east of Hope at 2:30 a. m. Saturday after beating and hijacking Lloyd White of $33 and then stealing his automobile near Arkadelphia.

One of the men, Claude Reynolds, was shot in the leg by Deputy Sheriff Sherman Caver of Arkadelphia, who closely pursued the robbers past Hope. Reynolds was shot when he resisted a command to raise his hands.

The bandit pair gave their names as Camden.

Officers said the two men engaged White to carry them from Fordyce to Arkadelphia. As they approached Arkadelphia they insisted that White continue the trip toward Hot Springs.

White resisted. Officers said the pair then robbed White of $33, beat him and stole his automobile. The car was wrecked near Arkadelphia. The pair obtained a ride on a truck headed south toward Hope.

White reported the affair to Deputy Sheriff Sherman Caver at Arkadelphia, and the two started a search, leading toward Hope. En route they telephoned officers here to be on the lookout.

Night Policemen Hugh Bearden and Claude Stewart drove to near the Tol-E-Tex service station and halted the truck as it approached. Deputy Caver and White of Arkadelphia had overtaken the truck near the Mississippi-Pacific viaduct and trailed the vehicle as it approached the filling station.

When the truck stopped, Deputy Caver commanded the two men to raise their hands. Reynolds resisted and was shot. He was taken to Josephine hospital and given first aid. White identified the pair as the men who robbed him of $33, beat him and stole his car.

The prisoners were returned to Arkadelphia to face charges.

Cooler Weather East of Rockies

High Temperatures Have Reached Peak in the Plains States

CHICAGO—(P)—Cool air began a rout of July's second heat wave and brought a promise of generally comfortable weather east of the Rockies.

High temperatures had reached their peaks during the past three days on the plains. All the affected areas except the southern plains, said J. R. Lloyd, forecaster at the Chicago station of the weather bureau, were expected to cool off by Saturday.

The cooler air, riding along with showers in many places, the forecaster said, should spread eastward and southward Saturday, reaching as far as St. Louis to the south and Ohio and the Lower Great Lakes area on the east.

President to Make Week-End Yacht Trip

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Roosevelt embarked Friday night for a week-end yacht trip on the Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay.

He had as his guests Senator Barkley, the democratic leader, Senator and Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette, and the former's brother, Governor Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The party will return to Washington late Sunday.

Rattlesnake, Angered by Its Cage, Kills Self

JERSEYVILLE, Ill.—(P)—Elmer Holder's pet rattlesnake could dish it out but couldn't take it. Angered by the slamming lid of its cage the reptile struck, missed the lid and sank its poisonous fangs deep into its own body.

Twenty minutes later it died.

Injuries Are Fatal

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—A skull fracture suffered when he fell from a wagon near his Wilson, Ark., home proved fatal Thursday to Billie Edwards LaRue, seven, son of Edward LaRue.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS—(P)—New Orleans October cotton opened Saturday at 11.15 and closed at 11.15, spot closed quiet, 13 points lower, middling 11.53.

Hope Star

Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Report!

Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc.
J. A. Palmer, Editor; H. Washburn, Publisher; at The Star Building, 213-214 South
Main Street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas
Under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. S. McCord.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 15c; per month 50c; one year $5.00. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $5.00.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

The Ancient, Undeclared Art of Log-Rolling

UP IN Escanaba, Mich., they are going to have a championship contest that is a championship contest this summer. They are going to settle the birling championship of the world.

If you don't know what birling is, that only proves that you never lived in a land of tall timber. For birling is the sport of the lumberjacks, those descendants of legendary Paul Bunyan, who sometimes seem to be just about the toughest, brawniest and most rip-roaring of all the two-fisted types America has produced.

To birl, you need a pool of water, a log, and a pair of steel-spiked boots—two pairs, to be accurate—one for each contestant. Donning the boots, you stand on one end of the log, and your opponent stands on the other. One or the other of you starts to twirl the log, and his opponent keeps pace with him. Faster and faster it goes, spun by the heavy spiked boots, reversing its spin now and then as one contestant takes it away from the other; until at last either you or your opponent is unable to keep footing any longer and tumbles into the water.

X X X

THE thing is interesting to watch for two reasons; first, because a good lumberjack can do miraculous things in the way of keeping his balance on a spinning log, and second, because it is always fun to see a fully clothed man fall into the water. But beyond that, birling is a game that grew out of one of the most dangerous jobs mortal man ever tackled.

In all the great lumbering regions—in Maine, in Michigan, in Washington or wherever—getting the trees felled and reduced to logs was only half of the job. They had to be got to the sawmill after that, and the usual way was to roll them into a river—thousands upon thousands of them—and let them float downstream.

X X X

THUS the great log drives came into being. For mile upon mile, a swift river would be carpeted with logs, so thick that a man could walk from bank to bank dry-shod. Now and then some obstruction would cause these logs to pile up.

It was then up to the lumberjacks to skip out under the faces of this menacing jam, find the key log, and jerk it loose. Then, with a roar like the collapse of a 10-story building, the jam would loosen itself and go thundering downstream. If the lumberjacks were skilled and lucky, they would skip over the swaying carpet and get out of danger; if luck or skill failed, they would be overwhelmed.

That, in brief, is birling's ancestry. So you can see that a birling championship is something worth having, and worth looking at. If you happen to be in the vicinity of Escanaba on August 13 you'll find this event something to see.

Palestine's "Operation"

BRITAIN'S "settlement" of the vexing Palestine question by means of a partitioning scheme which divides that unhappy land into three sections, one for the Jews, one for the Arabs, and one for the English, begins to look very much like one of those arrangements which please nobody at all.

The Arabs, from all accounts, are displeased at seeing so much of their homeland sliced away. The Jews feel that further progress of the promising Zionist movement is impeded by the smallness of the territory allotted to them. Neither side likes the idea of a British strip through Jerusalem.

What probably was the controlling factor in making this division was the strategic situation. Palestine is an important way-station on Britain's road of empire. Affairs in the Mediterranean are altogether too threatening to make the British feel like abandoning such a station. Arabs and Jews will just have to wait until the Mediterranean is once more a "British lake" before they can expect the kind of settlement they really want.

The Family Doctor

W. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Abnormality in Structure of Kidney May Be Hazard If Infection Develops

(No. 214)
Sometimes people are born with kidneys that are not shaped like ordinary kidneys or which differ in other ways from the normal. They may have the two kidneys joined together in the shape of what is called a "horseshoe" kidney.

They may have a kidney which is full of cavities containing fluid, known as cystic kidney. About one in 1,000 persons may be born with only one kidney.

Moreover, the tubes which pass from the kidneys to the bladder may be abnormal. There may be only one such tube passing from one kidney, the other kidney not having any, or there may be two tubes passing from one kidney.

Ordinarily, people with abnormalities of the kidneys do not know about them until they begin to have trouble. In many instances when there is only one kidney it will do the work of both satisfactorily unless an infection arises. If this develops in the one kidney, sometimes by rest in bed with a diet so nutritious that extra fat will form, this fat having the ability to hold the kidney in place.

In case all of these measures fail, it is customary to do a surgical operation so that the kidney may be fastened where it belongs.

Sometimes large cavities or cysts form in kidneys. Fluid may collect in these cysts so that the entire kidney swells and the pressure of the fluid actually may damage the kidney tissue. In such cases it may be necessary to do a surgical operation to relieve the pressure and thus to aid the kidney to perform its functions.

Chinese Form "Relief Tong"
EL PASO, Texas.—(AP)—El Paso's Chinese colony has solved its unemployment problem without government aid by organizing the Chong Wa Ku, a "relief tong."

Each of the city's 300 Chinese contributes $12 a year to the tong fund, explains Mar Ben, the founder. When a member loses his job or becomes too old to work, he need only apply for aid.

VACATION DIARY

BY JEAN SEINWRIGHT

Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CART OF CHARACTERS
JOY—Heroine, hostess in smart young carrousel.
ROBERT—Joy's fiancé, riding young designer.
NICK—Joy's rival in love.
DICK—Witty young playboy, Robert's rival in love.

Yesterday, the summer resort mystery deepens when Joy learns that a truck motorist up to the haunted house at night.

CHAPTER IX

WEDNESDAY: More excitement today, though I haven't been able to put two and two together concerning Dick and Jigger. However, as the kids say when they play one of their guessing games, "I'm getting warmer." A terrific thunderstorm broke just as lunch was almost over . . . passing motorists rushed to cover in The Golden Anchor, for the road is lined with enormous trees, and if one of those hemlocks should ever be struck by lightning it would be just too bad for anyone on the road. I hustled around, helping the girls to clear up the tables.

It was more than surprised when I saw Jigger seated at a small alcove table—he was dressed in approved country clothes—and glancing out into the courtyard I recognized his car, the one he'd driven over the Queensborough Bridge. Another man was with him, and of all people, Rocco! Standing near their table, "directing traffic" as Peter calls it when he sees me finding places for new arrivals, I heard Rocco say:

"You're all wet . . . it can't be."

"All wet? Nothing! That's the guy, there!"

Following Jigger's glance I saw his gaze was on Dick.

"I'll prove it to you right now," and the angry man started up from his chair.

"Now, don't start anything here," said Rocco, and he laid a powerful arm on Jigger's. "This neighborhood's not any too healthy for us just now. Besides, you're making a mistake . . . a swell guy like that ain't interesting himself in your propositions."

Just then a crowd of the younger set burst into the room. "Hullo, Dick Pegler! What luck to find you here!" and they flocked about him. I glanced quickly towards Jigger's table. Rocco seemed embarrassed, his saturnine-faced friend triumphant. Instinctively I felt Jigger's recognition of Dick had some significance; and when Dick left the tearoom, barely recognizing me as he hurried to his car, I felt vaguely disturbed. I saw the men watch him go . . . then talk for a few minutes, rise and leave the tearoom.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Monotony of Parental Orders Irritates

"You" can be a very irritating word when everyone, yet we use it a hundred times a day in admonishing our children.

When speaking of Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Smith, we are more careful of our persons, especially if criticizing them. "I think you use the wrong kind of soap powder," would be extremely rude, but "I am going to try 'Bleach Blend,'" it whitens sheets wonderfully," is not only acceptable but suggestive.

"You are getting overheated and must stop running," is not rude, of course, but by the time it has been piled on top of "You'll be sick if you eat that," "See what you've done to your dress," "You mustn't shout so or you'll wake the baby," it must become a bore to a child. In time, surely will get to feel that everything associated with the word, everything he does or says, is wrong, from the mere association of ideas.

Variety Speaks Orders

It has to be said, of course, a mother isn't writing a formal invitation to a child every time she speaks—Mrs. Brown desires Jimmy's presence in the bath tub at four o'clock—but why not say for a change, "Four o'clock's bath time, dear. Don't forget."

As the little fellow's day is made up of commands or warnings, there are dozens of ways of breaking the news. I wonder if the direct order is not often forgotten merely by the way it is worded. We cease to hear the striking clock, if it's the same clock, but slow it up or hurry its peal, and the ear catches the difference.

Then there is a way of speaking that holds a child's interest, regardless of monotonous. The very tones of voice may make all the difference in the world between obedience and stubbornness. A little fun, injected into a command, will often seize his imagination and make play out of what seemed work. Not that we should put on a show each time we speak, or pump our minds overtime, squeezing out new sugar coatings for pills, but merely that we'll find a change better for ourselves, too.

Worthy of Consideration

On the other hand, there is danger here. The order that sounds of coaxing, little Jimmy will like too well and may insist on a repeat, on a lot of repeats. Yet a little coaxing now and then isn't as wrong as it sounds. There are times when a child, tired of hopping to it, likes to have his mood whistled to a bit. He knows he is going to do what he is told, but he's just going to let us work to get him moving. Too much of anything is bad. A little—well, how many of us never have to be reminded or pleaded with occasionally?

We try to speak to others with tact and make our conversation interesting. Do we with children? Hardly ever. We rarely converse with them at all, more's the pity, so it is little wonder they learn to look upon parents as authority, and authority only.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

Promoting a Saner Outlook on Snakes

Why is it that snakes are so fascinating, even to people who can't look at them without feeling shivers run up and down their backs? This reviewer would not willingly remain within 10 feet of the most harmless, affectionate and well-intentioned snake that ever wriggled over a log; yet he reads every work on snakes that he can find, and asks for more.

There is at hand currently an excellent book in this field—"Snakes Alive," by Clifford H. Pope (Viking, $2.50).

Mr. Pope is out to present a simple, non-technical handbook on snakes, telling how they live, how the different species can be recognized, what is known of their evolution and what types you are apt to find in your immediate vicinity, and he does a first-rate job.

Like all herpetologists, he is indignant at the unthinking antipathy (like that of your reviewer) which leads so many people to destroy snakes indiscriminately. The United States contains only a few species that are dangerous; most of the rest have a direct economic value. Yet most of us ac-

"Gosh, what's that dinky thing?"
"A guest towel—a small courtesy that's never appreciated."

HOLLYWOOD

By Paul Harrison

Carole Whoops, Winner Rhumbas, Director Gives Up and the Result Is Nothing Sacred

HOLLYWOOD.—There is nothing sacred in the picture called "Nothing Sacred" which they are shooting out at Mr. David Selznick's place.

Doughty old Charles Winninger is perhaps the least sacred thing around the place, even in his bare feet, unless it's Director William Wellman, who habitually wears a fireman's helmet and a double-breasted suit of gloom.

Carole Lombard is in the picture, too, and today she seems to have the whoops.

When Miss Lombard is at her ebullient best you can hear her most confidential remarks three sound stages away. When she whoops, electricians fall off the catwalks overhead.

Just now, Miss Lombard is sitting at her dressing table passing remarks which are none of your business and we come across.

Even the poisonous snakes, he says, could be worse. If you are bitten by a rattler, the chances are eight to one that you will recover even if you are given no treatment whatever; with treatment, your chances are 30 to 1. The moccasin is too remote to endanger many people; the copperhead simply does not have enough venom to kill a normally healthy adult.

Altogether, "Snakes Alive" is worth reading. It should do much to promote a saner attitude toward these interesting and useful creatures.

having her hair fixed and whooping. In the next scene she is supposed to walk on the set soaking wet from a fall in a river.

The hairdresser is busy making her hair look damp and stringy, but attractive. In Hollywood a heroine can be no more than fetchingly disheveled.

Three More Falls
Freddie March, who also is in the picture, sits and watches Miss Lombard fix his hair as he describes how more fun and realism could be obtained by actually throwing her in a river.

He says, "Now if allman would only wait a few minutes until I could go out and get a nice river—"

Miss Lombard says something, and three more electricians almost fall out of the rafters.

Charles Winninger is sitting around looking silly in a nightgown and an old bathrobe. In the next scene he is supposed to be found snoring his feet in a tub of hot water.

A prop boy asks Wellman whether there is supposed to be a doorbell ringing in the scene.

The director says, "That's not the way we do things around here, son. We just leave a blank space on the film, and David Selznick can put in anything he thinks is cute—a dog barking, a siren, one of Winninger's puns, or the voice of the Butcher."

Tuck Hunting
There is a piano player on the set. He has nothing to do with the picture, but has been hired to play for the entertainment of the cast. He plays Winninger, in his nightgown, begins an elephantine rhumba.

"I'd like to put that guy in a picture with Bill Fields," Wellman tells Miss Lombard. Then to Winninger, "Hey, Charlie, have you seen Bill Fields since he went on the wagon?"

"No, and I don't want to—the dirty traitor!"

"I heard Bill's Connie Bennett story," whoops Miss Lombard. "Bill says Connie is a very swell person because she gave a blood transfusion to a kid who was in an accident. So everybody asks whether the kid was saved, and Bill says no—he froze to death."

"Let's get started!" yells Wellman. "Charlie, what the devil are you doing walking around barefoot?"

"Looking for ticks," says Winninger.

"Do you know that directing you is like trying to train a dog? Now go stick your feet in that tub!"

"I won't stick my feet in that tub," whimpers Winninger. "It's another dastardly Hollywood trick. The water is supposed to be nice and warm, so what do they do? They put dry ice in the water to make it look like it's steaming. So I put my feet in the tub and you'll make me keep 'em there the rest of the day. You go stick your head in that—"

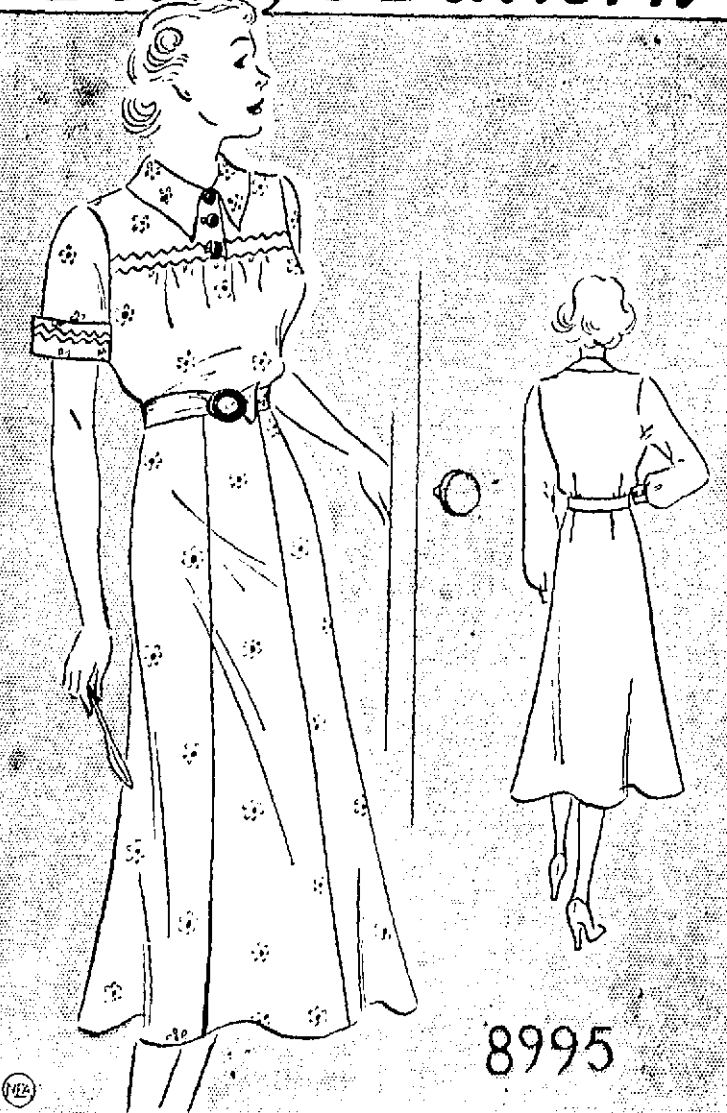

"Okay," agrees Wellman. "But you gotta stick 'em in at the last minute." The director stands and carefully adjusts his fireman's helmet and begins shouting instructions to everyone on the set.

In the middle of the discourse he stops, overtaken by ennui or maybe a realization of the futility of everything.

"Listen, everybody!" he yells. Everybody turns and listens. "Do you know that half the time I'm talking I haven't the slightest idea what the hell I'm talking about?"

Everybody giggles and Wellman slumps in his chair again. He says to the pianist: "The way things are going it looks like you got a job for the rest of the year. Play something. I think Winninger wants to dance."

Today's Pattern

8995

START your day feeling as fresh as a daisy in this pretty and easy-to-make morning frock (8995). The yoke is outlined in rick-rack braid and the cuffs are trimmed with it—a cunning note borrowed from the popular peasant fashions. This dress in a gay color will delight the eye of your family and you'll delight in its crisp freshness and flattery. It's tailored enough for morning shopping and day long wear around the house. The skirt is cut with fullness at hem to give you a full and easy stride about your house and garden. Designed in proportions that fit the full figure.

Available in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35 inch material with short sleeves, 4 1/8 yards with long sleeves. 2 3/4 yards of braid are needed for trimming. This pattern is an all-season favorite, you'll use it many times over through the year.

For a complete selection of late dress designs, send for the summer pattern book, 25 cents if purchased separately. Or, if you wish to order it with the pattern above, send in only an additional 10 cents.

To secure your pattern with step-by-step sewing instructions, send 15 cents in coin with your name, address, style number and size to Today's Patterns, 11 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, N. Y., and be sure to MENTION THE NAME OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

Baby Falls in Tub, Scalded to Death

BALD KNOB—The one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cooley who reside about two miles from Bald Knob, died Friday of injuries received when she slipped backward into a tub of scalding water. Her mother had been heating the water for use in cooking vegetables.

When ending work, the Indians smoked the "pipe of peace," when starting them, all members of the tribe puffed on a giant "war pipe" before taking the warpath.

NEW THEATRE TODAY

BITTER TROUBLE
TEXAS

Also
Chapter 4—"ROBINSON CRUSOE and EL BRENDEL Comedy

SUN.-MON.

Rochell Hudson
Bruce Cabot
Cesar Romero
Edward Norris

—in—
"Show Them No Mercy"

First Time in Hope

Also—
Comedy and Short Subjects

Society

MRS. SID HENRY

TELEPHONE 321

Think health and health will find you. As certain as the day. And pain will lag behind you. And love will lead you. Think love and love will meet you. And go where you go. And fate can no more treat you. Like some malicious foe. Think job, and joy will hear you. For thoughts are always heard. And it shall nestle near you. Like some contented bird. Whatever your said condition—Whatever your woes or pains—Bright thoughts shall bring fruition. As surely as God reigns.—E. W. W.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cox have returned from a vacation in Hot Springs and Little Rock.

R. M. LaGrone will spend the week end with Wrs. LaGrone in Hot Springs.

A very delightful and attractive party of the mid-summer was given on Friday evening, when Miss Mary Della White entertained at a lawn party and dance at her home on South Main street honoring her house guest Miss Marjorie Richardson of Camden. The spacious lawn was attractive and inviting with the national setting of shrubs and blooming plants, with the lovely pink crepe cypripediums placed near a most cleverly arranged and decorated well with the old oaken bucket from which refreshing fruit punch was served with dairy cookies. About 20 couples and several callers shared this delightful hospitality. Out of town guests other than the honoree were Misses Fulmer and Nancy Dowell of Little Rock.

Mrs. Archie Hale who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Wimberly and Mr. Wimberly for the past month left Saturday for her home in Ashdown.

Miss Joy Gray of Little Rock is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jimmie Cook and Mr. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Franklin and son Bobby and guest, Miss Mary Calvert of Gallatin, Tenn., have returned from a visit in Mineral Wells, Texas.

The executive board of the W. M. U. First Baptist church will meet at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the church. All of the officers are urged to be present.

Mrs. Josh Clark and two daughters Betty Joe and Lorine, from Mona, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Brice Thomas.

Bailey Nominated

(Continued from Page One)

Bailey, or to impugn the motives of anyone. He charged that 27 members of the committee had been communicated with and their "votes" committed before the body of Senator Robinson "had been taken from the capitol." He said the committee, in adopting the subcommittee report, was "fixing to set back confidence in public officials 25 years."

Hisses came from the rear of the room when Mr. Wooten rapped on the table and directed him to confine his statements to the report under consideration.

There was a roar of applause when he said "We can hold an election that's as decent as any nomination by this committee." He said he had always been "for a primary, and still am." He concluded with the observation that he realized that speech on the subject was futile, in view of "pledges of the committee members" as to how they would vote.

Mrs. Grayson spoke next. She rose quietly and said "I want to voice my opinion in this thing, please." Her brief comments were, in substance: "I was on this committee when we nominated Judge Johnson. That was a mistake. People are crying for a vote all over Arkansas. It is not right for 35 people to handle this thing. I protest against this committee nominating anyone."

Might Lose in Primary
State Senator Richard R. Thompson of Eureka Springs, the last person to speak on the report, asked for an opportunity to explain his attitude on the question. "I was the target in 1933 here and got run over by the hardest-hitting machine that ever ran," he said. "People will think I've turned about."

For over a quarter of a century, he asserted, it has been the custom in Arkansas to nominate by committee. "That doesn't make it right," he said, and referred to "that iniquitous thing that happened in this very room" in 1933. He said the Democratic party went over to Hot Springs in 1934 and whitewashed its action in making a nomination by committee and "said we'll go back to nominating."

There was an outcry of "wool wool" when he said "I give you my word, if the rules of the state Democratic party had stated today what they stated in 1933, the governor wouldn't accept the nomination and we wouldn't be here discussing this."

"I'm perfectly fearless in this thing," he said. "I don't give a cuss. This situation needs correction by legislation."

"I'd like to go to the Senate the worst way and I would forget a lot of principles if I could get there. The governor wants to go. I don't believe the governor could get elected today if his name was placed on the ticket and one other stalwart Democrat was put up. He might get elected if enough entered the race but he couldn't against just one."

The governor has more enemies than he has friends. But he's the governor and he's got a club. Wouldn't you use it?"

Thompson explained that he had suggested the committee take a straw vote on the issue among 100,000 poll tax holders in the state, but the plan had been discarded because it would have cost more than $10,000 in postage. He declared that a primary election would enable enemies of the governor in "machine" counties to defeat him.

"The main thing the governor wants is to get to the Senate. We are the beneficiaries of our enemies' conduct," he added. "All of these people—with a few exceptions—who are insisting on a primary, are the people who voted against the governor."

Hornsby Fired for Horse Race Betting

Former St. Louis Manager,
Settles Claim With Owners

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby, discharged manager of the St. Louis Browns, surrendered his contract, which did not expire until the end of the 1938 season, and settled his claim against the American League club for a sum estimated at from $7,500 to $10,000.

A peaceful ending to Hornsby's differences with the team's owners was reached after an all-day conference in the offices of his lawyer, Jacob M. Lashly.

Hornsby disclosed he was dismissed because Donald L. Barnes, president of the Browns, and William O. DeWitt, vice president, objected to his betting on horse races.

"While my contract did not forbid betting on races," Hornsby stated, "both Mr. Barnes and Mr. DeWitt have objected to my doing so, but these differences have not entered into the question of my playing ability or the policies of my management. As to those features, I have had a free hand and we have always worked in close harmony."

Barnes and Judge George C. Foster, treasurer of the Browns, issued a statement which said:

"Rogers Hornsby, former manager of the Browns, has worked in close harmony with the executives of the company during his term of employment. Mr. Hornsby and ourselves disagreed as to certain fundamental principles and therefore we terminated his services, paying him a sum satisfactory to both parties."

"We have the kindest of feelings towards Rogers and wish him every success in his future activities."

NEWS CHURCHES

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Rev. Thos. Brewster, Pastor

Sunday school 9:45 a. m.
Morning service 10:55 a. m.
Young people's meeting 6:45 p. m.

This is the last Sunday before the vacation period and all our people are urged to attend these services. No mid-week service Wednesday. The Auxiliary Bible study will be Monday at the church at 4 p. m.

The Auxiliary picnic for the older young people of the church was held at the Pines Friday evening. The picnic was well attended.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
W. R. Hamilton, Pastor

The service Sunday morning will be special interest to business men as the pastor preaches on "Divine Partner." Everyone who attends in a spirit of worship will be benefited.

The evening service will be used for the purpose of presenting the heart of the gospel for the Christian and the non-Christian alike. The subject of the sermon is "If Any Man."

Sunday school meets as usual at 9:45. Attendance last Sunday was 306. The Sunday before it was 327. The officers and teachers of the school are very desirous that every enrolled pupil will do his part to keep the attendance above the mark every Sunday during the summer.

The Baptist Training Union meets at 7 p. m. for interesting instruction and enjoyable fellowship.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend all services of "The Church Where the Highways Cross."

FIRST PENTECOSTAL CHURCH
Miss Danita Barnum, Pastor

Sunday school 9:45 a. m.
Sunday morning worship 11 a. m.
Sunday evening service 8 p. m.
Tuesday prayer meeting 8 p. m.
Friday Bible Study 8 p. m.

We are expecting a good attendance at Sunday school. Let us make it a banner day. The pastor will speak at the morning hour of worship on "Helping Others to Find the Christ."

The Sunday evening services have been a real blessed time lately. Souls have been responding to the old-fashioned altar call and numbers are hungry for a deeper heart life with the Lord. The pastor will speak also at this service.

The ladies of the church are requested to remember the Tuesday afternoon meeting at 2:30 p. m. at the church.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
V. A. Hammond, Pastor

Attendance records for this month depend upon what you do about coming to Sunday school Sunday morning. Your presence in your class will help the record, and your absence will hurt.

Every Christian is welcome at the Lord's Table Sunday morning. The inspiration and fellowship of the Table will help you meet your problems. It is a memorial of what God did for us yesterday and a reminder of what He promises for today.

The sermon Sunday morning is on "The Handicap of Ignorance." Asaph, chief leader of the Temple choir in the time of David, in his attitude toward God, as recorded in the 73rd Psalm, had to confess: "So foolish was I, and ignorant; I was as a beast before Thee." How many snugg and indifferent people, do you suppose, people Christian by name, recorded on some church roll book, are an open condemnation in the sight of the Lord, and might make the same confession made by the Temple choir leader of olden times?

It is high time that the Christian church stopped talking and praying so much about the church as it was, and began talking and praying about the church as it ought to be—the church as Jesus envisioned it. It is not the church of yesterday that will save this rotten old world of ours—it is the church of today and the church of tomorrow showing forth the ever-living Christ. The morning sermon is a message for today. Hear it.

A fine audience greeted the first open-air service last week, and we invite them all to come back tomorrow night, when we discuss "The Man Who

New Child Bride Changes Mind

Most child brides have seemed happy with their lot, but 13-year-old Elizabeth Macura, above, Tarentum, Pa., schoolgirl, decided to exercise her woman's prerogative and petitioned Allegheny county courts for annulment of her elopement marriage to Joseph Macura, 27, Westmoreland county steel worker. The girl said the marriage took place at Wellsburg, West Virginia Gretna Green.

Governor Bailey

(Continued from Page One)

ganization. The legislature, after stormy battles in which a strong group of state officials pitted themselves against the administration, put most of his program into law.

Aiding him throughout has been a staunch group of young and intense supporters, among them his campaign manager, Thomas Fitzhugh, scion of the Augusta family with whom he was acquainted years before. His confidential secretary was drawn from the city desk of one of the state's largest newspapers.

The constant strife and turmoil suited them as it did their chief, to whom fighting has been the spice of life.

Bailey is built for conflict. Five feet, ten inches tall, he tips the beam at 192. The weight is well muscled flesh packed on a solid frame. His face is that of an Irish battler, pug-nosed and nut-jawed. Steel gray eyes flash in anger or twinkle merrily as the mood dictates. His reddish-brown hair is kept closely trimmed.

Work is a steady diet with the governor. Bailey's office force describes him as a genial taskmaster with an innate dislike for holidays and early closing hours. Few sports attract him. He particularly dislikes golf and bridge but will go duck hunting. When he finds time he rides horseback. An omnivorous reader, he likes detective stories and indulges in an occasional motion picture. He has an exceptional capacity for absorbing information and making it his own.

Bailey's speaking voice is strong and vibrant. His greatest asset is the knack of putting the maximum of con-

Was Afraid of His Life." The text and lesson are taken from the life of a man who lived long years ago, but hundreds of his same type are living today. The sermon is a frank discussion of some of the costs of being a Christian, and of what it costs not to be Christian in these days.

You are cordially invited to worship with us Sunday, Church school, communion and the morning sermon in the building, and the evening services out in the Lawn Chapel, under God's cool skies.

The Christian Endeavors of the First Christian church gave a miscellaneous gift shower and lawn party at the parsonage Friday night, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Childers. Games and ice cream were enjoyed on the lighted lawn.

Orville W. Erringer
Hope, Ark.
Representing
Hamilton Trust Fund
Sponsored by Hamilton Depositors Corp.

WASH SUITS
Properly Laundered
50c
Nelson-Huckins

Farm Water
Systems
Your Family Deserves
RUNNING WATER
TERNS
Harry W. Shiver
Plumbing-Electrical
PHONE 259

Schoolboy Rowe May Be Sent Home

Detroit League Officials
Convinced Sore Arm Is Bothering Him

DETROIT—(AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, the Detroit Tigers' ailing pitcher, is through for the season, Manager Mickey Cochrane, who watched Rowe's futile efforts against the Philadelphia Athletics from the press box, said after a conference with Acting Manager Del Baker and Coach Cy Perkins that Rowe probably will leave soon for his home in El Dorado, Ark.

The three Tiger leaders said they were convinced that a sore arm is bothering Rowe, who yielded five hits and five runs in the one inning he pitched against the A's. He has been ineffective in his other appearances this year and once visited a specialist.

The final decision on sending Rowe to his home until next spring's training season will be made by Walter O. Briggs, president and owner of the American League club.

Cochrane indicated also that Briggs will be called on to determine whether Rowe will be asked to undergo an operation.

So They Say

In our dealings with social crises... as well as our legislative and administrative endeavors, we must love justice rather than its form.—Gov. Frank Murphy, Michigan.

Modern diplomacy is suavitiss its. Modern diplomacy is still pursued as if it were the private business of the diplomats rather than the common concern of the people.—J. K. Bradley, president, Young Republican Federation.

Mistakes of judgment are inherent in human nature, even among experts in high places.—Floyd B. Odum, New York financier.

I plan to be back for the opening of law school.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., leaving with bride for honeymoon trip in Europe.

It is only when men recline in luxuriant ease that they doubt God's existence or pay little attention to Him.—The Rev. Millard R. Brown, Cleveland.

BARBS

Ivan Akulov, a Soviet official, has resigned because of a chronic headache. You know the kind—with shooting pains.

With the new fruit season's run of startling stories, mudslingers appropriate and sincerity into his words. Speaking before a crowd, he finds written texts cumbersome, likes to talk extemporaneously, easily holds the attention of his audience.

In private, he exerts an almost magnetic charm on his listeners, driving straight at the heart of delicate subjects, making plain his views and positions.

Always there is about him the unconcealed urge for action.

This inspired one of his closest advisers to predict:

"Whatever may be said of his administration at its conclusion, it can never be said that it was a dull one."

GOAT THE THEATERS

Both the Saenger and Rialto theaters proudly announce for the coming week, one of the most complete and outstanding week of picture hits that they have had the pleasure to show in some time. Everyone knows that there are some great pictures... some that are very good, and some, while they are liked by many, are not up to the usual high entertainment standard. This coming week's attractions, from all previous reports, looks like a perfect week of screen fare for Hope movie fans.

The Rialto starts off Sunday with an old and welcome favorite, Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan at the Olympics." There has never been a star who could put over this Chinese character as Oland can and some extra good entertainment is looked for. On Wednesday and Thursday comes Leo Carrillo, the only man alive who can "butcher" the English language so beautifully, with a great supporting cast in "Hotel Haywire."

The Saenger starts off with what is called a laugh sensation, "Easy Living," it starts Sunday and features Edward Arnold, the star with the million dollar smile and roguish Jean Arthur and Ray Milland. With many requests coming in for "Night Must Fall" featuring Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell, this most amazing, unique and different picture comes Tuesday and Wednesday. For Thursday and Friday the giant summer musical hit will be shown that features ten screen favorites, "Top of the Town."

The Rialto feature on both Friday and Saturday a dandy double program, while the Saenger features one on Saturdays only... leaving no holes in Hope or Hempstead county for the lack of entertaining screen fare.

grass" to "spider in the bananas." Funny thing about our European cousins. When they're taking enough of a licking to holler "Uncle," they never forget to add the "Sam."

The navy, at least, should appreciate the work of trailers. In the next generation should be many a youngster with seagulls as a natural heritage.

Reports of people swallowing coins, safety pins, bolts, etc., are not the end of such things. The tales themselves are sometimes pretty hard to digest.

The suspension type of bridge exerts an inward pull upon itself under weight of a load.

There's a new kind of "Spidee" that defies all art efforts.

PHONE 345
Hall Bros
CLEANERS & HATS

3c SALE

ALL NEXT WEEK

July 26 to 31

Over 100 Items at

3c Each

BRIANT'S DRUG STORE

HERE IS— SAENGER

without any doubt the most complete and most entertaining week of good pictures that ANY two theaters could plan... and it starts off—

SUNDAY
—and—
MONDAY

First a subtle coat lands in her lap. That started it! Then a hotel suite...jewels...clothes...cars! And on top of all that, the grandest bus boy in the business offers her his heart on a cafeteria tray!

JEAN ARTHUR and EDWARD ARNOLD "EASY LIVING"

It's the biggest laugh show of the year!

RAY MILLAND

Added 3 Good Short Units

TUES & WED

We've had many requests for this picture because it's—

AMAZING--UNIQUE and DIFFERENT!

Robert MONTGOMERY
Resisting
RUSSELL

NIGHT MUST FALL

THUR & FRI

10 BIG SCREEN 10

In the GIANT musical hit of the Summer!

TOP of the TOWN

RIALTO

SUN. MON. TUES.

An old and welcome favorite returns—

WARNER OLAND

—in—
"CHARLIE CHAN
At the OLYMPICS"

Selected Short Units Complete Each Program

WED. & THUR.

The only man who "butchers" the English language so beautifully, and a big cast in

"HOTEL HAYWIRE"

CLUB NOTES

4-H Club Camp

The annual state 4-H club camp which was to be held at Fayetteville the first week of August, has been canceled because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis in certain sections of the state, according to a statement from C. C. Randall, Assistant Director of Extension Service, College of Agriculture, University of Arkansas. This action was taken as a safe-guard measure to protect the health of rural children after consultation with health authorities.

It is with keen regret that it was necessary to call off the State 4-H club camp and it will be a great disappointment to 4-H club members who had planned to attend the camp. Plans will be developed for carrying out contests determining state winners, etc., at some later date and when these plans are developed, it will be published.

There are four principal hereditary classes in Hinduism—Brahmins, or sacerdotal class; Kshatriyas, or military class; Vaisyas, mercantile or agricultural class; and Sudras, or servile class.

Announcing Best-Dressed Woman

Intensely Human Story of a Wife Who Found the Finest Clothes in the World Cannot Cover a Wounded Heart

A Smash Serial Beginning

in Hope Star Thursday, July 28

WANT ADS

How Many You Tell, the Quicker You Sell!

RATES
 One line—30 words, minimum 30c.
 Two lines—45 words, minimum 50c.
 Three lines—60 words, minimum 75c.
 One month, (24 times)—15c word, minimum $2.50.

There are for continuous insertion only.
 Long word count, disregard classification name, such as "For Sale," "For Rent," etc.—this is free. But each initial or name, or complete telephone number, counts as a full word. For example:

FOR RENT—Three-room modern furnished apartment, with garage, close to Main, J. V. Main, phone 1000.

Total, 15 words, at 2c word, 30c for one time; at 15c word, 50c for three times, etc.

NOTE: All orders placed by telephone are due and payable upon presentation of bill.

PHONE 768

Male Instruction

MALE INSTRUCTION
 We want to select reliable men, now employed, with foresight, fair education and mechanical inclinations, willing to train spare time or evenings, to become installation and service experts on all types AIR CONDITIONING and Electric Refrigeration equipment. Write fully, giving age, present occupation. Utilities Inst. % paper. 22-31-adj.

Services Offered

Plumbing, Contracting, Repairing
 Thirty years experience.
 H. R. Segner 120 S. Hervey Phone 171W 5-4-1f

For Sale

FOR SALE—We can furnish your home complete. We buy used furniture. Phone 523. Used Furniture Co., 2nd and Hazel St. 30-26tc

FOR SALE—Old newspapers, 5 cents per bundle. Hope Star. 24-26tdh

AUCTION SALE—Every Tuesday, cattle, hogs, furniture and farm implements. Sutton and Collier. 10-1tc

FOR SALE—Unbound and permanent-bound copies of 48-page historical Centennial edition of Hope Star. Unbound copies, 25 cents, add 10 cents if desired to be mailed. Permanent-bound copies 50 cents, add 10 cents if desired to be mailed. Apply Hope Star. 24-26tdh

For Rent

FOR RENT—Furnished apartment for rent. Mrs. W. R. Chandler, 402 South Pine street. 23-3tc

Wanted

WANTED TO BUY
 Will buy watermelons day and night anykind. Pay cash. Tom Carrel, meat dealer. 15-26tp

Three room furnished apartment. Private bath and garage. J. A. Sullivan, 404 N. Main. 7-22-1f

2 Die in Mishap
 BENTON, Tenn.—(P)—A Georgia touring car collided with a large wholesale grocery truck near here late Friday, leaving two persons dead and a third possibly fatally injured.

The Standings

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
Little Rock	43	35	.443
Memphis	58	41	.586
Atlanta	54	46	.540
Nashville	53	48	.525
New Orleans	52	49	.515
Birmingham	50	48	.510
Knoxville	53	67	.330
Chattanooga	32	66	.327

Friday's Results

Little Rock 15, Memphis 2.
 Knoxville 7, Chattanooga 3.
 Birmingham 5, New Orleans 3.
 Nashville 15, Atlanta 4.

Games Saturday

Memphis at Little Rock.
 New Orleans at Birmingham.
 Atlanta at Nashville.
 Chattanooga at Knoxville.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	53	30	.639
New York	53	32	.624
Pittsburgh	44	37	.543
St. Louis	43	40	.518
Boston	40	44	.488
Brooklyn	34	47	.420
Cincinnati	33	47	.413
Philadelphia	32	53	.376

Friday's Results

Chicago 11, New York 3.
 St. Louis 4, Brooklyn 1.
 Cincinnati 6, Philadelphia 3.
 Only games played.

Games Saturday

Chicago at New York.
 St. Louis at Brooklyn.
 Pittsburgh at Boston.
 Cincinnati at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	55	25	.688
Chicago	51	33	.607
Detroit	49	33	.598
Boston	44	35	.557
Cleveland	40	39	.506
Washington	31	46	.403
St. Louis	33	53	.384
Philadelphia	24	57	.296

Friday's Results

Chicago 9, New York 6.
 Boston 6, Cleveland 2.
 Philadelphia 16-8, Detroit 4-9.
 St. Louis 8, Washington 0.

Games Saturday

New York at Chicago.
 Philadelphia at Detroit.
 Washington at St. Louis.
 Boston at Cleveland.

Wallaceburg

Miss Daisy Stephens of Washington, D. C., is spending her vacation with home folks.
 Mrs. Ethelene Gray of Malvern spent the past week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lige Stephens.
 Mr. R. C. Taylor and family spent last Wednesday in Nashville.
 Mr. David Hoover of Little Rock is visiting his parents this week.
 The revival meeting will begin here at the Macedonia church on Sunday night August 1. The Rev. A. R. Corn of Magnolia will do the preaching. Everybody is invited to attend these services. Dr. Corn is a great preacher and lecturer, he has spent two years in the Holy Land.

Colorado For Coal

DENVER.—(P)—Geologists have estimated that during the past 75 years nearly 370,000,000 tons of coal were mined in Colorado with a value of $785,000,000, or $40,000,000 more than the value of gold produced in the state during the same period.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE . . . . . with . . . . . Major Hoople

I AM FROM THE INHERITANCE TAX OFFICE, AND HAVE COME TO CHECK ON THE AMOUNT MR. AMOS DRAKE HOOPLE FELL HEIR TO—ONE REPORT PLACES IT AT A MILLION POUNDS AND ANOTHER AT $1,000,000. PERHAPS, AS HIS WIFE, YOU CAN PUT US RIGHT!

AFTER 35 YEARS AS FIRST MATE ON THE SAME CRAFT WITH HIM, I MIGHT STATE THAT IF HE'D WRITE A CHECK FOR OVER $150, ON WHAT HE INHERITED, IT WOULD CONTAIN MORE RUBBER THAN A BUS-LOAD OF SIGHT-SEEING NECKS!

SO TH' BIG KETTLE FULL OF DRAKE YAFFY HAS BOILED DOWN TO A LOLLIPOP!

AND WHEN HOOPLES FURY TAKES HER LICK, ALL HE'LL HAVE LEFT IS TH' STICK!

CHECKING UP ON AMOS

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

WELL, SHUCKS! I MIGHT AS WELL GET UP! I CAN'T SLEEP

I REALLY SHOULD BE ASHAMED OF MYSELF FOR STRINGING POOR OLD FOOLY ALONG—BUT IT'S THE ONLY WAY I'VE DISCOVERED TO BRING ALLEY OOP TO TIME—

HELLO, COOLA—WHAT'S THIS FOLKS ARE SAYING ABOUT FOOLY GIVING YOU TH' GRAND RUSH?

YES, AND WHAT'S MORE, THEY SAY YOU ARE LAPPING IT UP LIKE A KITTEN AT TH' CREAM!

YOU WOULDN'T BE INTIMATING, BY CHANCE, THAT I MIGHT BE EL, SORT OF FELINISH, WOULD YOU?

OH, NOW, COOLA—DON'T BE SILLY! YOU KNOW SHE WOULDN'T!

NO, NOT MUCH!

ALLEY OOP

Is Her Scheme Going to Backfire?

WELL, WHAT ABOUT ALLEY OOP? YOU DON'T MEAN TO SAY YOU'VE THROWN HIM OVER?

WELL, WHAT ABOUT TH' BIG YAP? HE'S NOTHING TO ME!

OH, COOLA! GOODY! I'M SO GLAD! I ALWAYS HAVE BEEN SIMPLY CR—RAZY ABOUT HIM—AND NOW THAT YOU'RE OUT OF TH' PICTURE—WELL, THINGS WILL BE DIFFERENT!

HMM! HERE'S A SITUATION I HADN'T COUNTED ON—

WASH TUBS

Two Sheets in the Wind

TOWARD DUSK, A WEIRD DANCE BEGINS TO THE RHYTHMIC THROB OF TOMTOM WASH AND EASY EXPECT TO BE TOSSED IN THE SOUP POT MOST ANY MINUTE.

BUT THERE WON'T BE MUCH LEFT FOR THE CANNIBALS TO EAT, IF THESE MOSQUITOES KEEP ON.

PUT YOUR NET ON, STUPID!

Of All Places!

By CRANE

IT'S A GOOD IDEA, SAY, BUDDIE, HOW LONG DOES THIS RACKET LAST?

NI YI! WUBBA ZAM KINKA PINKA!

NI YI! NI YI!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Of All People—Jack Lane!

By BLOSSER

YOU RUN INTO THE HOUSE! WAKE THE PEOPLE UP, AND ASK IF YOU CAN USE THEIR PHONE TO CALL THE POLICE!

I'M STILL AFRAID THOSE MEN MIGHT USE THOSE GUNS! BUT, HERE I GO!!

I CAN'T GET A RISE OUT OF ANYONE! GUESS MAYBE I'D JUST BETTER TRY THE DOOR AND WALK IN!

GOSH! IT LOOKS LIKE A HOUSE THAT WAS HIT BY A TORNADO ON THE INSIDE! I WONDER WHAT IT.....

HEY, MISTER! WHAT IS THIS PLACE?

THE OUTSIDE OF IT IS 135TH STREET AND SNYDER AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY...AND THE INSIDE OF IT IS A MOVIE COMPANY LOT....AND YOU GET OFF OF IT!!

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE

Of All People—Jack Lane!

By THOMPSON AND COLL

WHA, MYRA—HOLD THE BABY AND STAND BACK! I SAW THE DOOR TO THAT LINEN CLOSET MOVE!

WHY, IT'S JACK!

LANE! WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY SPYING ON US?

I HAVE EVERY REASON TO SPY ON YOU, JASON! I'VE BEEN CHECKING UP ON YOUR PAST ACTIVITIES—PARTICULARLY AS A MEMBER OF THE "PATRONS OF PEACE!"

THE MAN IS CRAZY!

NOT AS CRAZY AS YOU, MY FRIEND, TO THINK YOU CAN GET AWAY WITH THE TWINS HOAX!

WHY, YOU...

National Insignia

HORIZONTAL
 2 Pictured is the coat of arms of —
 12 On the shore.
 14 Large lizard.
 16 Also.
 17 A plane curve.
 20 To soak flax.
 21 Mountains in this country.
 22 Kind of braid.
 23 An exchequer.
 25 Hastened.
 26 One of 9 equal parts.
 27 Ovary.
 29 Lengthwise.
 31 To prevent.
 33 Like.
 34 South America.
 35 Exploits.
 37 Runs away.
 40 To surfeit.
 42 Carries.
 43 Organ of hearing.
 47 Pear cider.
 48 Bugle plant.

Answer to Previous Puzzle
 THOMAS EDISON
 ARID SITAR LOOP
 M TOM PER CUM
 EH ROW L CIO BC
 RAW TARE TROP
 IDOL DIG TROP ANU
 C EAR AR ALVA Y R
 AL GOT A EDISON RE
 OS TRAP SIT
 AGER ACHES VEST
 LINEAGE NAPERED
 SESELI R IODINE
 O ELECTRICIAN Y

tant industry in this land.
 13 Sun.
 15 Birds' home.
 18 Big.
 19 Punitive.
 23 Stratagem.
 24 Corded cloths.
 26 Stem joint.
 28 German title.
 30 Kettle ears.
 32 Supreme Being.
 33 Astraddle.
 36 Checkered woolen cloth.
 38 Cotton fabric.
 39 God of love.
 41 Organs of sight.
 42 Point.
 43 Egg.
 44 Rootstock.
 45 South Carolina.
 47 Postscript.
 50 Wing.
 51 The tip.
 54 And.
 56 Pair.

VERTICAL
 1 Ana.
 2 Store.
 3 Grief.
 4 Wrath.
 5 To relate.
 6 Gaze.
 7 Minister of evergreen shrubs.
 8 Era.
 9 Chaos.
 10 Rash.
 11 Making — is an impor—